

Hettich drawer platform for eggersmann

Exclusive drawer design for new eggersmann E4 system

German high-end kitchen manufacturer eggersmann is switching its portfolio to Hettich's AvanTech YOU drawer platform. The exclusive EBX drawer system will be presented for the first time at "design days" from 17 to 20 September 2023. Market launch is then set for early 2024.

eggersmann is synonymous with bespoke, one off kitchens sold worldwide through exclusive kitchen studios and top end specialist furniture retailers. Launching the innovative E4 system, eggersmann is switching to the new EBX drawer system, based on an AvanTech YOU drawer with Actro runner. The slender 13 mm drawer side profile will feature a new, purist SteelCape in onyx steel exclusively created for eggersmann. Featuring push-to-open Silent, the handleless drawers give the user an opening and closing experience second to none.

"Every detail counts and hugely determines the overall impact an eggersmann creation makes. Resolutely focusing on all of the finer details and unique component designs, we produce inimitable ensembles that are found nowhere else. Not only rational in terms of processing, AvanTech from Hettich gives us so much versatility in designing drawers with optional features on one and the same technical platform. Factors like local proximity to Hettich, the innovative supply concept we benefit from and, not least, the commitment to sustainability were key factors in our decision to opt for Hettich," says Michael Wunram, eggersmann CEO. Both parties are looking forward to 17 to 20 September
